If you have been thinking about joining the Friends of the National Library, February is the month to do it. For this month only, all new members of the Friends go into a draw to win a wonderful collection of National Library photographic publications and products.

The Friends program provides members with a range of benefits including invitations to Friends excursions; regular monthly mail-outs of Library news; activities and offers from our affiliate businesses; early bird invitations to events with limited seating such as the Kenneth Myer Lecture and the Celebration; use of the Friends Lounge and library; 15 per cent discount on all stock in the Library shop; 10 per cent discount at the National Library's café, Bookplate; 10–15 per cent discount at a great number of new and second-hand/antiquarian bookshops around Australia; 10 per cent discount on single ticket sales to Musica Viva concerts and Canberra Theatre Centre performances; 10 per cent discount on accommodation at Forrest Inn and Albany Apartments; 10 per cent discount on business and tourist accommodation at the Tall Trees Motel; and a reduced rate at the Novotel Canberra (subject to availability).

All that, and the chance to stretch out at home in early March with three beautiful books by Helen Ennis from the National Library's photographic publications—Intersections, Man with a Camera: Frank Hurley Overseas and Olive Cotton: Photographer, worth over $130 in total. And in case you would prefer to give one or more away, we will also include two beautiful photographic card packs worth over $30.

To join, or to find out more about memberships, visit our website at www.nla.gov.au/friends/index.html, contact the Friends Office on (02) 6262 1698 or (02) 6262 1551, or email friends@nla.gov.au and we will send you a membership pack.

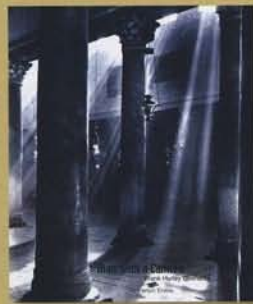

To be eligible for the draw your entry must be received or postmarked no later than 28 February 2006.
